Local Shipping Halted as Word from East Is Waited

The number of vessels tied up here by the seamen's strike was raised to five today when the crew of the steamer Eastern Sailer, a shipping board vessel, refused to sign at reduced wages and "walked" ashore.

H. H. Ebey, in charge of shipping board operations here, said that the board would undertake to put a crew aboard the steamer immediately, but he admitted first efforts in that direction had failed.

Although no actual walkout of marine workers had followed the strike order issued Saturday night in Washington, in protest against the 15 per cent cut in wages of all maritime workers, by the United States Shipping Board, shipping on the Oakland estuary and western waterfront is practically at a standstill today. Ships that were scheduled to sail at dawn today are still tied up at the docks awaiting further information from the national organization of marine workers in Washington.

Within another twenty-four hours, it was predicted by Monday of the different shipping companies in Oakland and San Francisco, the shipping industry will be paralyzed until such time as national union officials and officials of the United States Shipping Board can settle the dispute.

Ships due to sail this morning failed to leave the docks, because the crews refused to leave the port until a definite decision had been reached in the national capital. It was announced this morning by union officials. The estuary and the western waterfront are usually dotted with craft being towed out to the Great Gate on Monday mornings, but today ferry boats and tugs of the different companies were the only boats visible on Oakland's inner harbor.

ENTIRE CREW QUILTS

The first vessel to feel the effect of the strike order in San Francisco was the Shipping Board steamer West Henshaw. The entire crew, including the captain, who had not signed at the old scale of wages, it was announced by union officials today.

Only three vessels sailed from Oakland and San Francisco from midnight Saturday until Sunday yesterday. They were the bark McLaurin, sailing for Bristol Bay; the Union Oil Company's tanker, Lyman, sailing for Vancouver and Seattle; and the schooner West Thayer, bound for Seattle.

Through orders issued to Custom House officials in all American ports, any ship was permitted to sail under orders until midnight Saturday. It had been scheduled to sail the following morning. More than forty-two vessels, amounting to 70,000 net tons sailed from Oakland and San Francisco during the twenty-four hour period ending at midnight Saturday, it was announced this morning by officials of the San Francisco custom house.

Belief that the strike order would be rescinded within a few days by national officials, was expressed here today by steamship officials and members of the marine unions, who themselves declared in protest of the 15 per cent wage cut, asserted that it was inevitable that a wage cut would become effective sooner or later.

Earl H. Ebey, head of the United States Shipping Board for Oakland and San Francisco last night announced to the local union heads that the government would operate what steamers it desired and where it desired without dictation or interference from the unions, with a further assertion that the Sea Service Bureau of the Shipping Board had sufficient applicants to man all vessels it was necessary to operate.

WILL POLICE DOCKS

Preparations were made yesterday by the United States Marine Corps, chief of the Sea Service Bureau of the Shipping Board, to police the docks both on the Eastbay and peninsular side of the bay, should any of the union men interfere with the sailings of any of the ships.

According to private advices received in San Francisco late last night, a fleet of Japanese freighters which have been tied up at various Japanese ports are about to be dispatched to Pacific Coast ports, particularly San Francisco and Oakland, to sign for all contracts of American companies who will be unable to fulfill their agreements.

The ranks of the strikers consist of cooks, stewards, seamen and shiphands. It is believed that none of the skilled mariners will leave their ships, for they have a vested interest in the strike. The union house officials to remain with the United States Shipping Board. Ships will continue to sail from Oakland with crews working under the old wage scale.

MESSAGE SENT BENSON

The Admiral Evans of the Pacific Steamship Company's Admiral Line, in a statement to the company office today said, will sail for Astoria and Portland as scheduled and all other sailings scheduled for this week would be maintained.

Officials of the Masters' Mates' and Pilots' Association here announced they sent a message to Chairman Benson of the Shipping Board stating members of the association struck because they had been given no opportunity to confer with the board. Their request for a conference, they said, was answered by a notice from the board that wages had been cut 15 per cent.

their employees because of the marine workers' strike.

At the Los Angeles Steamship Company it was stated the matter of wages had been satisfactorily arranged between the company and the employees. It was expected the steamship Yale, entering the coastwise service after war work and repairs, would leave for San Francisco tomorrow as scheduled and begin the return trip to Los Angeles on time.

Officials of the Pacific Steamship Company, operating the Queen and Admiral vessels, said they had no fears and declared the strike affected only Shipping Board vessels.

1500 Quit Rather Than Take Pay Cut

CHICAGO, May 2.—Between 1200 and 1500 members of the Live Stock Handlers' Union struck at the Union Stockyards, as a protest against a proposed wage reduction of 5 cents an hour.

O. C. Leonard, president of the Union Stockyards and Transit Company, declared that the company had urged the men to submit the wage cut to Federal Judge Alschuler for arbitration. He said that the employees had refused and the strike was called in violation of their agreement.

"The places of these men will be filled at once," he said.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 2.—Four Shipping Board freighters, loaded and ready for sea, are held up in the Willamette river for lack of complete complement as a result of the marine strike.

Privately owned vessels are leaving on schedule, including a number of coasters for the Pacific coast, and the Eastern Guide and West Rimrod with cargoes of grain for the United Kingdom and European ports.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Appointment of an American diplomatic representative to the Vatican is not under contemplation, said a statement issued today at the White House.

"Many inquiries have come to the President relative to a contemplated nomination of a diplomatic representative to the Vatican," said the statement, "and the President has thought it best to answer all of them by the public statement that no consideration has been given to such a step, and there will be no occasion to consider it unless Congress by the enactment of law provides for such representation. The President does not understand that any such proposal has been made to Congress."

S. F. SUPERVISORS PROMISE AID FOR NEW NAVAL BASE

Pledge Themselves to Assist in Securing Appropriations
From Congress.

The Supervisors of San Francisco today went on record for the new Pacific naval base. Resolutions declaring that the board, "speaking for the people of San Francisco, extends its hearty congratulations," and "pledges itself to do all in its power to help secure necessary appropriations from Congress," were made public today by the Oakland Chamber of Commerce. The resolutions were delivered to the Oakland organization pursuant to provisions contained in them.

The vote for these resolutions was unanimous on the part of the San Francisco supervisors. Mayor Rolph returned the resolutions to the board without his signature, but they automatically went into effect on February 28.

TEXT OF RESOLUTIONS

"Resolution No. 13654 (New Series), as follows:
"Whereas, San Francisco, confident in the justice of its cause, offered to the Federal Government, Hunters Point and lands adjacent thereto as a site for a naval base on the Pacific Coast, and fearlessly presented its claims to superiority over any other site offered by different communities; and

"Whereas, the special congressional committee and the board of Navy officers to whom was assigned the duty of examining the different locations, and of recommending to the Congress of the United States its conclusions as to which site was best adapted for the purposes of a naval base on the Pacific, has recommended the site offered by Alameda county; and

"Whereas, while we do not agree with the judgment and findings of the committee, we cannot help but recognize that the determining factor in the choice of Alameda over San Francisco was the fact that Alameda was able to offer several thousand acres of virgin lands, free of all cost to the Federal Government; and yet, having had our day in court and having lost out, it is becoming that our great city, 'The City That Knows How,' should show that it can be a graceful loser; therefore be it

EASTBAY CONGRATULATED

"Resolved, that the board of supervisors, speaking for the people of San Francisco, extends its hearty congratulations to our neighbors across the bay, and pledges itself to do all in its power to help secure necessary appropriations from Congress to start without delay 'this great national enterprise, and to push it to a splendid and adequate completion; and be it further

"Resolved, that we will gladly respond to any call from the other side of the bay for co-operation to secure to Alameda county the full fruits of their victory, by adequate appropriations and other congressional aid, and that a copy of these preamble and resolutions be forwarded by the clerk of this board to the board of supervisors of Alameda county, to the chamber of commerce of the cities in said county, and to each member of the Senate and Assembly from said Alameda county."

Adopted by the board of supervisors February 14, 1921.

Holding a Husband

by Adele Garrison

What Dicky Reported About Rita Brown

"They're running true to form," Dicky grumbled, at one step where there was not a sign of life to be seen in any direction. "They're stopping at every pig pen and chicken coop along the way. If it wasn't for you, old girl, that I know the delay is best for you. I'd get out and walk or help push the engine or something."

I smiled up at his impatience; there was something very boyish and attractive in it and I was well content to rest quietly and have the undivided attention of my handsome husband. For my own part I would have been willing to have the journey twice as long.

But I feared more than anything else that he might find the confinement irksome, and might be playing the part of chief nurse from duty rather than from inclination. Therefore I braced myself for an effort to arrange things differently.

"Tell me about the rest of the people," I said carelessly. "What are they doing and how are they standing the journey?"

Dicky grinned reminiscently.

"Each after the manner of his kind," he quoted. "My maternal and your paternal ancestors are, of course, engaged in alternately spoiling Junior, each gliding with suppressed disparagement at the other's methods. Alfred and Lella are holding hands in the drawing-room of the Fairfax sisters, chaperoned by Edith, who, in self-protection looks out of the window most of the time. That girl will be a wreck by the time this wedding is pulled off. I never saw anybody look so bored and miserable in my life."

A vague shadow flitted over the roseate sky of my comfort. Too well I knew the secret springs of Edith Fairfax's discontent. That it was owing for her to look on at her sister's happiness and contemplate the hopelessness of her own feeling I wondered miserably if my husband had any glimpse of the truth. I decided quickly in the negative, however, for Dicky is distinctly not a coxcomb.

After a moment Dicky went on, amusement dancing in his eyes, "I'm having the time of her young life running things generally. She staged the breakfast out of old Grace's hamper, her own seeing when they vacated yours on the double quick for your majesty, and ever since she's been fluttering from one of the party to the other, seeing that everything is going to suit her. She's especially concerned over Hughie, though. You know he's a high with her, and every time he leaves the train she's certain he isn't going to get back on, or that if he does he'll be minus an arm or a leg."

"Why does he leave the train?" I asked idly, as Dicky paused.

"Search me," he replied carelessly. "Of course he's been doing some wiring about transportation from Aberdeen—the station where we leave the train—to the cottage at Cedar Creek, but he told me an hour ago he'd got that straightened out. So I don't know why he's leaving the train at every station unless he's trying to dodge Rita. That young woman certainly making a strong campaign. I think the sight of that cloak Hughie toiled so nonchalantly made her realize for the first time that old Hughie would be a gold mine for some greedy, luxury-loving wife, and that description certainly fits Rita. She's on his trail with her ears laid flat back against her head."

I didn't stop to analyze my strong distaste for the news he brought, but fled it away for future introspection and there were another question on my lips of much more importance to me. "Dicky," I said timorously, "will you answer a question frankly if I ask it?"

He straightened himself and looked at me shrewdly, quizzically. "What's on your mind, old dear?" he countered. "Shoot!"

"Would you mind telling me why, when you seem to disapprove of Rita Brown so much, you insisted on my offering to share my drawing-room with her?"

My husband stared at me frankly for a long instant. Then he laughed merrily.

"Well, I'll be a—!" he ejaculated. "Talk about a woman's intuition! She hasn't a one. I suppose you got it into your noodle that it was solicitude for Rita Brown's comfort that made me ask that of you."

Stove Sees Service for 100 Years

A stove which saw actual service for more than one hundred years, having been manufactured in Troy, New York, in 1812, was the gift yesterday of Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Anderson, 2322 Hilbert street, to the Oakland Public Museum.

Miss Susie Mott, acting director of the museum, receiving the old stove as a valuable addition to the collections of the museum, which is now being placed on exhibit in the colonial rooms of the museum.

The old stove was brought to Oakland by the Andersons in 1811 from Wisconsin. They have had it set up and in use until recent years. It has been well taken care of and is little the worse for its hundred years of use. The fuel burned in the stove was wood.

Manufactured in Troy by the firm of Johnston, Gier & Co., long since out of business, the stove was taken by its first owner to Milwaukee and later sold second-hand to a resident of Waukegan, Wisconsin. In 1857 the stove was taken to J. P. Michelson of Amherst, Wisconsin, the father and father-in-law of the Andersons of this city, who have just given it to the museum.

Michelson gave it to his daughter, Mrs. Anderson, in 1884, and she has owned it ever since. It is highly ornamental and has four Roman columns to support the upper portion. Judged by modern standards of heating stove construction, museum authorities say it is far more "ornamental than useful" to reverse the old saying.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

By JESSIE WEITZEL KNOTT, (International News Service)

We must religiously save all leftovers if we are to get the most out of the money we spend for food. Bones that are left can be made into excellent soup. There are many ways to use up cold meat, even if all that is left is unattractive scraps. Save the water in which vegetables are boiled, except potato water and bean water. Rice water makes an excellent meatless tomato soup, and cabbage water makes good soup too.

This month lamb and veal are cheaper and more plentiful. Colery is still good, and new cabbage is in the markets in sufficient quantity to be fairly cheap. Peas, eggplants, radishes, cauliflower, so clean and white that it is a joy to cook it, a condition that does not always obtain.

Mushrooms are fresh and good. Onions are coming in from the South, and there are hot-house cucumbers and tomatoes. The best salad greens for the month are endive, cress, dandelions and chives. Oranges and lemons are splendid. The grapefruit season is about over.

ODD FACTS

A man weighing 151 pounds is said to have in him enough fat to make five pounds of candles, and enough phosphorus to put heads on 2000 matches; iron sufficient to make a one-inch nail and lime enough to make whitewash to cover a small school. As for carbon-black leaden, his body is said to contain an amount equal to filling over a thousand pencils. Man's body will furnish also a spoonful of sugar, a pinch or so of salt and nine and a half gallons of water, a scientist declares.

The nightjar, so long accused of preying on young poultry and game, has been proved to be the farmers' most valuable feathered friend in his war on insect pests.

Cry Geraldine's SHOULDERS

I like constructive criticism. I particularly like it when the writer expresses his own opinion collectively to sign his own name. Then I feel that he really means what he says and isn't simply trying to "heckle" Jerry. For which reason I commend the following writer, let's say a square fighter and I like him.

Dear Geraldine—I've read your column at different times and disapproved as well as commended your opinions. I must register a protest against your attitude as expressed in today's paper that there is "more kick in evil than in goodness." I've listened to the same argument with a slight and non-essential variation.

A definition of "kick" I believe would be enjoyment, pleasure, happiness. I am sure the good majority will agree with me when I assert that happiness is a spiritual quality, born of the fruits of goodness.

Take care, I beg of you, in the interest of the unpolished innocent minds of your younger readers and older, also, that the definition you set forth do not conflict with the first commandment of the decalog. Your contention that the lure of evil is pleasurable is a dangerous one and damning and I believe your column should be suppressed or at least censured.

Sincerely,
LLOYD F. ROBERT,
2327 Grove St., Oakland.

Geraldine's Reply

Good for you, Pal. I like to meet earnest people, even when their earnestness disagrees with mine. As a matter of fact you don't really disagree with me—you only THINK you do. Jerry is fighting for goodness just as hard as you are—and she wants you for her friend.

The trouble is you were so anxious to disagree with what you thought Jerry was going to say, that you didn't bother to read what she really said. You have one definition of a "kick" and pleasure and Jerry has another. Because Jerry's article doesn't fit in with your definition you condemn it. That isn't fair argument, Pal. The definition of pleasure as copied from Webster's Collegiate Dictionary is as follows:

"Pleasure—The gratification of the senses, agreeable sensations or emotions, amusements, diversion, self-indulgence, frivolous or dissipating enjoyment; hence, sensual gratification. What the will dictates or prefers. That which pleases. Pleasure is the end of life."

That's all, Pal. There is no other definition. Upon that definition I based my article, using the slang slogan "kick" to typify all that pleasure means. You use pleasure and happiness as though they meant the same thing, and condemn Jerry. But I didn't use them synonymously. FOR KICK DOES NOT MEAN THE SAME THING.

SIN DOES BRING PLEASURE, BUT ONLY GOODNESS BRINGS HAPPINESS.

Repeatedly in that article, Pal, I referred to the pleasure of sin as "false thrills," "emotional shocks," "inward earnings," horrors, damnation. Repeatedly I said "Goodness is Health. Badness is Hygiene." Repeatedly I told of the terrible danger of living for the "kick" you get out of things. And this is what I said in my goodness. "There is strength. There is peace. There is growing power over others. There is healthy desire and beautiful dreaming. There is genuine merit. There is love."

What more could I say against sin, or for righteousness, Brother? THE LURE OF SIN IS PLEASURABLE AND THEREFORE LIES ITS TERRIBLE DANGER. I'm not going to help the cause of goodness by telling lies about sin. That is the reason a certain class of moralists but the hold on men. They gave an absolutely false report on life and as soon as folks did a little experimenting they ceased to believe anything the moralists said.

By the way, if you are making orange marmalade, try this recipe for orange preserves, which I have followed with success. It makes a clear preserve:

Take equal weights of sour oranges and sugar. Peel two oranges in every six and soak these rinds for twenty-four hours in salt water. Wash and simmer until tender, changing the water twice. Drain and cut with scissors into thin strips. Cut the oranges into halves at the "equator." Take out pulp free from seeds. Drain, add sugar, stir until boiling, skin and simmer fifteen minutes, add pulp and rind strips and simmer twenty minutes longer.

From a Chorus Girl

I am going to answer the two following letters with the one reply: Dearest Jerry—I read other people's troubles every night and at last I have found nerve to write you.

I've taken a bargain to live with someone else in his joys and sorrows and to be supported in return you would feel that you had to keep your contracts? No, I don't like to be thrown aside in case sufficient pleasure doesn't materialize. No, Jerry isn't an old fossil who doesn't realize how 17-year-old girls feel. It's all right with me. She knows that a 17-year-old girl should be made to stick to a bargain just as well as a 70-year-old.

Listen, World!

There's a terrific rumormongering in the Dear Eltington establishment. Young Jack was shot last night under most embarrassing circumstances. Of course they're trying to keep the matter dark, but everybody knows that he was in some sort of an affair with his chauffeur's wife and the chauffeur came home unexpectedly and shot him. Dreadful business.

And think of all his family had done for him. The sweetest girl in Harvard—remember that "peach pie dinner" of his which became so famous when he and the "peaches" were hated but the divorce court? Then those three years in Paris with an unlimited allowance.

Yet it does seem strange. With a clear bank account and a clear bill of health, he suddenly breaks out into this chauffeur's wife affair and gets shot. It would almost seem as if wild oats sowings went beyond the ministrations of bank accounts and doctors—and if they had, our very souls and popped up when we least expected them. After all, it may be true that you can't sow wild oats and reap violets.

Something Helpful

I hope the following proves helpful: "TO 'IRISH BLUE EYES'"

Dear Geraldine—This is to "Irish Blue Eyes" whose letter was published April 2 asking advice about her relationship with her supposed fiancé. If she will communicate with me, I may be able to help her. If she is my long-lost niece there will be a striking resemblance between her and her nephews.

"Happy Pal" sent in a little poem which was printed and here is word of the good which it did:

Dear Jerry—This is to thank you for publishing a letter by "Happy Pal" containing a poem, "A Little Way." Here is one person who was helped by the lines. I cut it out and read it every day for I need just a little patience in my daily problem. It isn't the problem of a "fratious wife" or an indifferent husband, but of how to make a pleasant home for a very cranky old man, the head of his family, whose word is law. "Happy Pal" hoped the lines would help someone and through her kindly wish and your cooperation both were helped.

I'm glad they helped, Pal. Better days to you!

To L. D. F.—Indeed I did chuckle over the joke and thank you for sending it in. You dear steady Pal. You're SUCH a comfort! Did the Big Man write the original article himself? It has elicited about 19,758 roars! I've lost your address so am sending my love this way.

Advice From Jerry

I'd advise you both to start right in and take stock of yourselves. What's your idea of marriage at any rate? Is it serious consideration involving weighty responsibilities and a good deal of sacrifice and hard work and self denial, as all serious contracts do—or is it merely an exchange for the sake of getting a bit thrown aside in case sufficient pleasure doesn't materialize? No, Jerry isn't an old fossil who doesn't realize how 17-year-old girls feel. It's all right with me. The Terrible Tempered Mr. Bang

Uncle Wiggily Stories

UNCLE WIGGILY AND LULU'S MARBLES

When Uncle Wiggily saw Lulu Wibblewobble, the duck girl, with tears running down her yellow bill one morning, as she stood on the shore of the duck pond, the bunny rabbit gentleman knew right away that something had happened.

"Why, Lulu, what is the matter?" asked Mr. Wiggily, jumping up the water enough in the world, without you making more by crying salty tears?"

"Oh, quack-ack-ick!" cried Lulu, and she seemed to feel very sad indeed.

"Tell me all about it," begged Uncle Wiggily, catching some of Lulu's tears in his tail, silk hat so they wouldn't overflow the duck pond.

"Well, my brother Jimmie and the other boys won't let me play marbles with 'em," quacked Lulu.

"You don't want to play marbles with the boys; do you, Lulu?" asked the bunny gentleman.

"Yes, Uncle Wiggily, I do," Lulu answered. "I'm almost as good a marble shooter as any of the boys, and I know how to play. Jimmie lets me play with him when none of the other boys are around!"

You have made a bargain to live with someone else in his joys and sorrows and to be supported in return you would feel that you had to keep your contracts? No, I don't like to be thrown aside in case sufficient pleasure doesn't materialize. No, Jerry isn't an old fossil who doesn't realize how 17-year-old girls feel. It's all right with me. She knows that a 17-year-old girl should be made to stick to a bargain just as well as a 70-year-old.

From a Chorus Girl

I am going to answer the two following letters with the one reply: Dearest Jerry—I read other people's troubles every night and at last I have found nerve to write you.

I've taken a bargain to live with someone else in his joys and sorrows and to be supported in return you would feel that you had to keep your contracts? No, I don't like to be thrown aside in case sufficient pleasure doesn't materialize. No, Jerry isn't an old fossil who doesn't realize how 17-year-old girls feel. It's all right with me. She knows that a 17-year-old girl should be made to stick to a bargain just as well as a 70-year-old.

Advice From Jerry

I'd advise you both to start right in and take stock of yourselves. What's your idea of marriage at any rate? Is it serious consideration involving weighty responsibilities and a good deal of sacrifice and hard work and self denial, as all serious contracts do—or is it merely an exchange for the sake of getting a bit thrown aside in case sufficient pleasure doesn't materialize? No, Jerry isn't an old fossil who doesn't realize how 17-year-old girls feel. It's all right with me. She knows that a 17-year-old girl should be made to stick to a bargain just as well as a 70-year-old.

DEATH BOUNTY IS INCREASED BY RIVAL S. F. TONGS

Higher Price Gives the Police Little Assurance 15-Day Truce Will Hold.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—While the Bing Kong and the Hop Sing have signed a fifteen-day truce and business conditions in the Oriental quarter were slightly improved today, it was learned at police headquarters that a higher price had been set on the heads of the two rival tongues, and Detective-Sergeant John J. Manion, in charge of the Chinatown squad, is suspicious of further trouble.

Secret information reaching Manion today was to the effect that word had been whispered in underground circles that officers of the high-binder organizations affected and men previously marked for death would be shot down if they appeared on the streets. The police say that not a single leading tong member has come out of hiding, although the truce was made Saturday at noon.

The officers believe that some of the gunmen are only waiting for a favorable opportunity to earn the large sums offered as the reward for killing members of the rival organizations. The guard in Chinatown has been doubled and vigilance increased instead of relaxed, as was expected by the Chinese.

Paris Sure Peace Move Will Not Hurt Allied Cause

PARIS, May 2.—(By the Associated Press).—Official French circles are extremely reserved in their comment on the passage by the United States Senate of the Knox resolution declaring at an end the state of war between the United States on the one hand and Germany and Austria-Hungary on the other. Confidence was expressed, however, that the United States Congress and President Harding would amply provide against any disadvantage to the allies as to the result of a separate peace between the United States and Germany.

Jails Less Crowded in April Than March

For the month of April there were 822 arrests, or 71 less than the number made in the month of March.

There were 222 more arrests last month than in April, 1919.

The record for this month was given a good start yesterday. There were 31 arrests in the city, 15 being charged with being drunk and nine with disturbing the peace. Various minor charges were placed against the remainder.

Shot Fired During Arrest of Three Men

Three men were arrested in a fight which started in the Liberty dance hall, Thirty-sixth street and San Pablo avenue, last night. The men in the hall pushed the disturbers into the street. Five policemen responded to a riot call and arrested the three men. As the patrol wagon was leaving a shot was fired, but a search failed to reveal anyone with a gun.

The three men at the police station gave their names as William Tye, James Courtney and Sam Wright. They were charged with being drunk and were unable to tell the desk sergeant who started the fight.

Why That Bad Back?

Is a lame, aching back keeping you miserable? Do you long for a moment's rest from those sharp, stabbing pains that torture you from morning 'til night? Are you "all played out" and without strength or vigor for the day's work? Then you should find out what is causing the trouble and lose no time correcting it. Most likely, it's your kidneys! You have probably been working too hard and neglecting proper rest and exercise. Your kidneys have slowed up and poisons that well kidneys should have filtered off, have accumulated in your system. That then, is the cause of that nerve-racking backache, those piercing pains and annoying headaches, dizzy spells and bladder irregularities. Help the kidneys before the trouble gets worse. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

These are Oakland Cases:

Eighty-third Avenue Mrs. C. Doloff, 1703 Eighty-third Ave., says: "I am glad to say a good word for Doan's Kidney Pills. I know from experience they can't be beat. A spell of the influenza left my kidneys weak and I suffered with a constant backache. My work was a burden and frequent dizzy headaches made me miserable. The action of my kidneys was irregular and caused annoyance. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and used them. It was not long before I was feeling like myself again. The backaches left and I was free from the headaches and dizziness."	Eighty-fifth Avenue M. McDonald, shoemaker, 2057 Eighty-fifth avenue, says: "I gladly endorse Doan's Kidney Pills and know they are just as represented. My kidneys were out of fix and I had severe backaches. I was lame and stiff, especially mornings. My work was a strain on my kidneys and it was often hard for me to straighten up. My kidneys didn't act right and I used Doan's. They benefited me in every way, strengthening my back and kidneys."	Peralta Street Mrs. John King, 317 Peralta street, says: "I had pains in my back and could hardly straighten up at times. When I would work hard and particularly on wash days, I suffered the most. I could scarcely get up when I would bend over to pick up anything. The irregular action of my kidneys added to my annoyance. Beginning with the use of Doan's Kidney Pills, I soon had relief. I used three boxes and can say I was benefited in every way."

GOVERNOR URGES 'ARMY' SUPPORT

Human kindness is one of the greatest factors that can be employed in the sublimation of world conditions today both socially and industrially, according to Governor William D. Stephens in a proclamation issued by him commending to the attention of the people of California the Salvation Army's financial appeal embodied in this organization's latest "Amputation Week," May 9 to 16.

Governor Stephens' proclamation is as follows:

"In all of the great needs today, in all parts of the world, both at home and abroad, is for assistance and kindness demonstrated along constructive lines. Mankind everywhere is calling for an expression of helpfulness.

"To those in whom this call awakens a responsive chord I commend the appeal of the Salvation Army, which during the week of May 9 to 16 will make its annual solicitation for funds. The extent of much of the welfare work to be done in the next twelve months will be more or less measured in terms of the response to this call.

"In this same connection I recommend that throughout the state bring this cause to the favorable attention of their memberships.

The Salvation Army's financial appeal will be made during "Amputation Week," under the direction of the county advisory boards of the army, composed of the leading business men and women of the respective communities. This financial appeal is designed to finance the army's work for the entire year.

Old "Mill" at Tribune Inspires Novel's "Lead"

Beaumont, Former Sports Editor, Successful

The old battle-scarred typewriter which he used to pound as sporting editor of the TRIBUNE years ago acted as an inspiration for Gerald Beaumont today in The TRIBUNE editorial rooms, as he was paying a friendly visit, and he sat down and hammered out the first page or so of his newest story, "When Johnny Comes Marching Home."

Establishing what is said to be a precedent for a new author, Dodd, Mead & Co. of New York, one of the oldest established publishing houses in America, has contracted for three books from Beaumont, the first to appear early next year under the title of "Hearts and the Diamond," and the others to follow at six-month intervals.

Beaumont is a resident of Alameda, and is well known to newspaper men all over the state. For several years he was sporting editor for The TRIBUNE, and during this work garnered information in note form which he is now capitalizing in the form of short story and book writing. Later he was editor of the Southern Pacific Company's bureau of news in San Francisco, a position which he recently resigned to answer the call of the world of fiction.

RISE RAPID. Few writers have covered the space between security and literary success as quickly as Beaumont, who wrote but three stories before his work was taken off the open market by one of the largest of the national monthlies, which is now supplied for a year ahead, and still exercising a first American rights option.

"Dramatic instinct, charm of style, infuse the detail, and also all a 'human' appeal that is rarely, if ever, found in sporting stories are the qualities which seem destined to make Beaumont's name familiar to the public."

VOTERS TO BE URGED TO GO TO THE POLLS

Campaign Aims to Emphasize Necessity of Exercising Franchise Right.

Characterizing the "Go to the polls" drive as a movement in which all citizens can get together, whatever their individual convictions or party affiliations, the organizers are aiming in a concerted effort to bring home to every voter in Oakland the importance of exercising the right of franchise.

That the drive is not a matter of politics, either personal or partisan, has been emphasized by the sponsors of the movement from the start. Elections in the past have shown that a large number of voters do not take the trouble to go to the polls and record their convictions on issues of importance to the city's progress, or to show their preference in the matter of candidates for important public offices.

Recognizing the basic principle of a democracy as the will of the majority, various civic and religious organizations of Oakland are joining together for the common purpose of urging upon the citizenship the realization of the voter's responsibilities.

Already the movement is meeting with a gratifying response. It is reported, and a systematic campaign is now under way to reach each individual voter with the message "go to the polls." In this connection it is stated that the voters are to be urged to exercise the right of franchise at every election.

At a recent meeting of the Rotary Club, resolutions were adopted outlining a definite part to be taken in the campaign by that organization. Churches, civic bodies, the board of education and other organizations interested in the advancement of the community are to be informed of the details of the campaign, it was announced. Many of the organizations already have made preliminary arrangements to aid the movement.

aiming to bring every voter in Oakland the injunction to "go to the polls."

Sign Replaced by Student as 'Cop' Looks On

BERKELEY, May 2.—While coeds and other college students looked on, Lawrence Kreig, member of the Tiliem Club at the university, 2605 Durant avenue, was forced to dig a hole and replace a sign which he had taken as a student prank from in front of a tailoring establishment at 2543 Durant avenue.

As Kreig, a freshman student, labored, Patrolman H. P. Lee, who apprehended both the student and the sign, delivered a lecture to the assembled colleagues on the wisdom of recognizing the law of property rights.

In addition to being forced to replace the sign, Kreig was compelled to pay $5 for a new "borrowed" sign by him from in front of a floral establishment at 2315 Telegraph avenue.

The appropriating of the tree and the sign followed a college party last Saturday night, both being sought as "trophies" for a collection at Kreig's club house.

A trail of dirt leading from the floral establishment to the Tiliem Club followed by Patrolman Lee, led to the apprehension of Kreig.

He was released from custody after he had completed his Sunday morning task of replacing the sign at the tailoring establishment.

BOMBS ARE USED IN MAY DAY PLOT

BUENOS AIRES, May 2.—May Day here was marked by the throwing of two bombs, an attempt to blow up the railway bridge and a parade by Socialists and workers who carried red flags. Nobody was injured and little material damage done.

CHICAGO, May 2.—An orderly parade and meeting called by the Socialist Party of America was a demonstration in favor of Soviet Russia, the only observance of the day in the city.

PARIS, May 2.—The first of May passed with probably less excitement than the ordinary Sunday. There were fewer than the usual number of arrests for minor infringements of the law.

'SNOW PARTIES' BECOME COMMON, SAYS ATTORNEY

Prosecutor Declares Oakland Girls Are Taught to Use "Dope."

Harry Isbell and John F. Barry pleaded guilty of having morphine in their possession before Police Judge Edward J. Tyrrell this morning and will be sentenced tomorrow morning.

The two men were arrested Saturday afternoon by T. J. McInerney, inspector of the state board of pharmacy, who were staging a "snow party" in a rooming house at the corner of Eleventh and Clay streets. When the raid was made there were two young women in the room with the men. The women were not arrested because the men claimed that the morphine belonged to them.

"Snow parties" are becoming a common thing, said Prosecution Attorney W. J. Hennessy. "I have been told that girls of some of the best families are taken out on these 'snow parties' where everybody uses not just as though they would drink liquor."

Both Isbell and Barry denied that they were having a "snow party" when they were arrested. According to the attorney, one of the women that were with the men was a married woman, the other was a young girl.

By L. Beamer, also charged with violation of the state poison law, pleaded guilty of having morphine in his possession. He will be sentenced tomorrow.

PEACE OF IRELAND BEFORE SENATE

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, presented today in the Senate a copy of "an address to the American people" by the Parliament of Ireland. "Without objection," Senator Borah's request that it be referred to the foreign relations committee and printed as a public document was granted.

Copies had been sent previously to all newspapers in the United States by agents of the provisional Irish government.

The 19 points of the address of the Irish Parliament to the Congress of the United States express a certainty that the struggle of the people of Ireland against what it terms the aggression of England is not passing unobserved by that body.

Charging England with false propaganda, the Irish representatives stated that they are hastening to lay facts before Congress. The address states and through several generations strove among other things to protect our culture, suppress our industry and to erase our name from the roll of nations.

Violation of treaties also charged, the statement made that a population of eight and one-half millions which normally should have increased to seventeen millions has been reduced to four millions.

Declaring that the attitude and desire of the present generation has been made manifest beyond question, the address traces the history of the so-called independent Irish Republic from its inception on December 14, 1918, detailing the action taken by England to crush what the Irish representatives term "this legitimate application of the principle of national self-determination."

The Irish people claim no more than their right as a nation to determine freely for themselves how they shall be governed. On no other basis is peace possible. You, the representatives of the United States, are too intelligent to be insensible to the issue," President Eamon de Valera and nine deputies signed the document.

HARDING'S PLANS PUZZLE CAPITAL

By J. BART CAMPBELL, International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 2.—A wide divergence of opinion among stock and bond publicans members of Congress today as to what steps President Harding may take toward entering into peace negotiations with Germany following the final passage by Congress of the Knox peace resolution.

The resolution, passed by the Senate Saturday night, by a vote of 49 to 23, is expected to be in effect in the event of a turbulent and partisan debate in the House this week but its Republican leaders hope to force the passage of the measure by a substantial majority by next week.

The Senate debate on the resolution disclosed that Republican senators, although united upon the principle of it—the ending of the long and costly war—were divided as to whether the American government should seek to make a separate peace with Germany or attempt to negotiate a peace based upon a revised treaty of Versailles.

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the Republican majority leader, pressed the belief that President Harding would undertake a treaty of peace with Germany following the passage of the Knox measure, but how soon President Harding would make such a move, or what kind of a treaty he thought the President would seek to negotiate, Senator Lodge did not explain.

The Knox resolution was today referred to the House foreign affairs committee for consideration. The committee is expected to meet Wednesday to begin study of the measure.

ACCEPT CUT OR FORFEIT JOBS, IS ULTIMATUM

Builders' Challenge Precludes All Hope of Amicable Settlement.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—All hope of bridging the break between employers and journeymen in the building trades here, in a compromising manner was ended at noon today and an ultimatum was issued from the headquarters of the Builders' Exchange to the effect that unless the men were back at work by next Monday at the new salaries fixed by the arbitration board, their jobs would be forfeit.

The ultimatum declared that if the men persisted in their refusal to accept the terms outlined by the board, they would under no consideration be taken back and their jobs would be permanently closed.

The ultimatum followed the announcement that general reductions of 7 1/2 per cent in wages of certain mechanics as provided in the recent awards of the building trades arbitration board will be put into effect next Monday.

Members of the Builders' Exchange will meet Wednesday afternoon and lay plans to cope with any emergency that may arise when the new wage reduction is put in effect. The general meeting will be attended by representatives of employers and definite plans to handle any situation will be formulated.

The Building Trades Council remained firm today in its determination not to abide by the decision of the board and to deal after next Monday only with those employers willing to enter into a working agreement independently and without reference to the board's award.

At the same time the Builders' Exchange remained equally firm in its decision to accept the award of the arbitrators and deal only with the unions willing to continue work after Monday under the conditions laid down by the board.

The board is "awaiting developments," according to George L. Bell, a member of the arbitration board.

The decision of the wage board affects seventeen of the fifty crafts affiliated with the Building Trades Council. It is feared that the other trades will be affected along the line.

The crafts affected by the decision of the board, with their present wage and the wage announced by the arbitrators, follow:

DOCTOR'S SHOT, WIFE CONFESSES TO HIS KILLING

Blackmail Plot and Charges of Improper Relations Hinted in Tragedy.

BY UNITED PRESS.

CHICAGO, May 2.—Mrs. Thomas J. Rowland, wife of a prominent Chicago dentist, confessed to police today that she shot and killed her husband in their home early today.

"We had an argument," she cried finally. "He lunged at me—and that's all I remember."

Mrs. Rowland said she had planned separate maintenance proceedings against her husband, naming Miss Irene Malloy and two other women.

Miss Malloy was the doctor's office assistant. He met her three years ago when she was 16 years of age, the wife stated.

Police rushed to the Rowland apartment when cries of Mrs. Rowland were heard.

Dr. Rowland was found fully dressed with a bullet in his chest. His wife had barricaded herself in her room.

Police who broke down the door found her hysterical.

DYING MAN ACCUSES

The doctor was taken to a hospital, where he died. Before death he issued a statement accusing his wife of silence.

Mrs. Rowland was taken to jail. Detective Weber went to Dr. Rowland's room in the Masonic Temple, where he broke the doctor's desk. In his pocket was a check for $100 from the South Detective Agency.

Edward Early, assistant manager of the association, said Dr. Rowland had Mrs. Rowland shadowed since March 1.

Dr. Rowland told me he had relations with a young girl," said Early. "The mother and the girl demanded $25,000 from him as the price of silence. He refused to pay. They carried their story to Rowland's wife."

WIFE FEARED EXPOSE

"She became alarmed, not wanting her husband's life exposed," she demanded that the $25,000 be paid. Dr. Rowland thought she was "in" on the blackmail plot and hid her shadowed."

Early and Detective Weber agreed that they were of the opinion that Mrs. Rowland shot her husband when he refused to pay out the $25,000 to save both of them from disgrace.

Daugherty said he had been urged to issue a general public warning against announced demonstrations, as has been customary with the department of justice the last several years, but that he had refused to do so.

"My idea was," he said, "that if a general warning were given, it would invite rather than prevent demonstrations. The country is settling down to a patriotic program. I think we need less watching and more working in this country."

"I would not say that it is perfect safe to leave the smoke-house door open, but we are back to normal," he said, as the president of the United States would say, and we have reason to be proud of ourselves."

TWO BILLS FOR BLIND SCHOOL GO BEFORE STEPHENS

One Provides for Brand New Site, While Other Aims At Student Division.

BERKELEY, May 2.—With resignations threatened, the controversy which has centered about the California School for the Deaf and the Blind for several years came to a crisis today, when two rival bills providing for different ways of separating the blind from the deaf in Berkeley, reached the hands of Governor Stephens for signature.

One measure, introduced by Senator Breed of Oakland, provides for a new site for the blind and the turning over of the present institution entirely to the deaf and dumb. The other, sponsored by Assemblyman Morrison of San Francisco, would separate the blind from the deaf on the present Berkeley site, providing separate boards of directors for each of the two institutions proposed in the measure. The first bill passed both houses last week while the latter passed Saturday.

Which of the bills shall become a law now rests entirely with the governor.

DIRECTORS FAVOR BREED BILL

Directors of the state school, headed by William Nat Friend of Oakland, favor the Breed bill, declaring that the area at the present site is too small for two separate institutions and that while space may be afforded at present the future needs of the deaf of the state will utilize all available land.

"If the recommendations of the board of directors of the state school don't count for anything, then we had better all retire from office," is the statement of Friend in attacking the Morrison bill. "Legislators are inclined to listen to anyone who appears before them and are too often carried away by picturesque plans for castles in Spain drawn by imaginative persons. With a new site, an ideal school for the blind could be established, one which could be made a model for the entire country. It is ridiculous to think of having two state institutions on the same site."

Proponents of the Morrison bill, led by Mrs. Christine L. Brague, blind graduate of the Hastings Law school and residing in Berkeley, declare that the proximity of the present school to the university, where many blind students they declare take courses, must be maintained. Around this issue with friends and declare that the proximity of the present school to the university, where many blind students they declare take courses, must be maintained.

BLIND STUDENTS HEARD

Supporting Mrs. La Brague were members of the California Association for Self-Supporting Blind, headed by Ernest Leslie, student at the University. With retrenchment in all departments of state business urged by the governor at the present time, the blind supporters of the assembly bill declare that their measure affords the only logical step to be taken at the present time.

On the board of directors of the school with Friend are Elmer Nichols, attorney; Professor Thomas M. Putnam of Berkeley; and Mr. Lewis B. Avery of Oakland, and Colonel Frank Marston of San Francisco.

Piece of China Pierces Jugular Vein of Baby

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—A bit of broken china from a smashed teacup caused the death today of little Ametee Dondero, 3, of 1835 Mason street.

Ametee's mother had gone to work and the lad was playing on the steps of his home. Attracted by the reflection of the sunlight on an object lying in the gutter, the lad found a piece of porcelain from a broken cup and picked it up.

In some manner he slipped and fell and the sharp-pointed piece of crockery was pushed against his neck, cutting the jugular vein.

The child's aunt found him, rushed him to a nearby grocery and the harbor ambulance summoned.

The child was dead when placed on the operating table in the hospital.

Tribune Story Gets Witnesses For Aged Woman

"Mary George" Widow of Rene Pontulanz, Killed
in World War.

Information that Mary George, the mystery woman and derelict, whose insanity trial could not be heard by Superior Judge A. F. St. Sure because there were no witnesses who knew anything about her, is the widow of Rene Pontulanz, a Frenchman, who was killed in the world war, was given in court today when the aged woman suddenly remembered.

"Publication of the woman's story in THE TRIBUNE also brought two witnesses into court who gave enough details to warrant Judge St. Sure in sending Mrs. Mary George Pontulanz to the Stockton asylum. Thomas H. Chassey, 2005 Dwight way, testified that he had known the woman for six years and that at times he had taken her into his home and cared for her when she was ill. W. J. Hampton, a retired fireman of the city of Oakland, testified that he had paid taxes on property which she once possessed many years ago. He said he had known her for twenty-five years.

When the time for Mrs. Pontulanz's trial came last week the judge could not proceed with it because he had no information about the woman's residence, age, relatives or friends.

The information volunteered by the two men apparently the extent of the meager information that can be gleaned.

Fifteen persons have been sent to asylums from Alameda county since the month of April, according to Clerk Frank Schnepfle of Judge St. Sure's court.

Prohibition Act Is Upheld by Court

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals here today upheld the national prohibition act as applied to the dispensing of liquor in soft drink parlors. It was decided that Albert Young, prize fight promoter and well known in the sporting fraternity, would have to go to jail for 30 days, if he did not inform the state of his following the beginning of raids by deputy internal revenue collectors. He was fined $500 and given a 30-day suspension of his license as a bartender. Walter Deane, was given a like term with a fine of $100. Young's saloon, 2363 Sixteenth street, was raided the morning of April 19, 1921. The bartender testified that he saw the bartender accept 25 cents for a drink from a bottle which he later put in his overcoat pocket.

City Avoids Blame in Grounding of Vessel

Reporting on the grounding of the motorship Buenos Aires at the Alameda wharf while loading grain recently, Commissioner Soderberg today reported to the City Council that the city of Oakland should in no way be held accountable for any damages.

Soderberg said that the grounding was due to the vessel's side coming into contact with a bank of earth extending out some distance from the fender piles, which was not removed at the time of the original channel dredging in 1912 because of the damage that might have resulted to the piling.

Soderberg asserts that the Albers Company has not complied with the terms of its lease in making further improvements to the dock in 1916. The Albers Company, taking all responsibility for damage, the channel has since been dredged.

Druggists Fail to Beat Liquor Limit

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—The efforts of the Oakland Pharmaceutical Association and the San Francisco Retail Druggist Association to obtain a judgment restraining the prohibition enforcement officers from restricting the allowance of alcohol to druggists, proved futile today when Federal Judge Van Fleet sustained the decision of the U. S. Attorney. Complaint was made that the 100 gallons of alcohol allowed the druggists was insufficient and that former collector Yellowley had no legal right to establish a fixed amount. The court held that the dispensing of alcohol and the placing of a restriction upon it was discretionary with the enforcement officials.

Holdup Takes $30 From Berkeley Man

BERKELEY, May 2.—"Hold up your mits" called a man who stopped out of the brush in front of John C. Paine, 1605 Bancroft way, at the Thousand Oaks station at a late hour Saturday night.

Harris Resigns Position as Aid To Prosecutor

Assistant District Attorney
Goes Into Private Practice;
Higgins Named.

Deputy District Attorney Myron Harris, son of Presiding Judge T. W. Harris of the Superior Court, today resigned his position with the county and was succeeded by Preston Higgins, former secretary to the mayor of Oakland.

Harris has been the deputy district attorney for seven years. Prior to this he was a football player at the University of California, going to Australia with the championship team, and he was also a noted sprinter. He was taken directly from college into the office of the district attorney. He first came into prominence there in the prosecution of the Anita Whitney syndicalism case.

Harris will go into private practice. He stated that his only reason for resigning from the district attorney's office was a financial one. He declared that he found the small salary attached to the position inadequate for his needs.

JUDGES CHOOSE PRETTIEST GIRL FOR AD. MASQUE

Alice Fosgett to Rule Over
Event As Princess
California.

Meet Princess California. Princess California will reign over the colorful pageant of the Ad Masque in the Municipal Auditorium next Saturday night.

She is Miss Alice Fosgett, the prettiest working girl in all Alameda county, according to the judges who selected her from hundreds of other candidates for the honor of ruling Oakland's Glad Night. She is at the Chevrolet plant, where Miss Fosgett is employed, the refer to her as "Billy Burke."

The decision of these judges was made known today. A. W. Dean, president of the Hayward Chamber of Commerce; E. K. Taylor, former mayor of Alameda; E. W. Norris of Oakland; A. S. Weaver, San Leandro; F. H. Thatcher, Berkeley; Louis Aber, Oakland; Charles Gale, Pleasanton; Eugene Bowles, publicity director of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce.

NOW FOR AD MASQUE

And now the Eastday is on the tip of the expectancy awaiting the presentation of the Ad Masque itself in all its manifold beauty of form and color and music.

Hundreds of dancing girls have been rehearsing for weeks under the direction of Miss Marie Allen, Oakland's noted teacher of dancers, original of the duck parent dance, director of athletics and dancing at the Lakeview school.

And Princess California as "The Sleeping Beauty" in the picturesque dramatic unfolding of the Ad Masque will rule these hosts of dancing nymphs.

Surprise will follow surprise at the auditorium Saturday night, the greatest Ad Masque of all, say the men and women of the Ad Club in presenting the sixth annual pageant of advertising and publicity.

NINE EPISODES

There are nine episodes to "The Sleeping Beauty." The pantomime fantasy was written by R. W. Rinehart and V. A. Brewer. Rinehart has written many sketches. At the University of California he was author of the "Jungle Fable" and the senior extravaganza of the class of 1920. Brewer also is a clever writer.

Tombeaus, mist dancers, flowers, trees, telegraph poles, bill boards, newspapers and other unique dance numbers have been arranged.

Oh yes, and there are had fairies and knaves and a Ventriloquist, pageant, too, all of whom have their part in unfolding the story of "The Sleeping Beauty."

The judges have taken the old fairy tale and made it apply to California and the present movement with its slogan of "Greater California—Straight Ahead." "The Sleeping Princess" is California. Only when the Prince of Publicity breaks through the forest of indifference does the princess awake to happiness and joy and gladness.

In the masque is found the motif for Oakland's Glad Night, Saturday evening, May 7, Ad Masque Night. The place is the Municipal Auditorium. The big night begins at 8 o'clock.

She Will Rule Oakland

MISS ALICE FOSGETT, who will be the Princess California in the colorful pageant of the Ad-Masque next Saturday evening at the Oakland auditorium. She was winner of the beauty contest held by the Oakland Advertising Club.

Drug Firm's Suit to Recover Fines, Lost

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—The efforts of the Regal Drug Company of this city to have returned $75,000 in fines and penalties in connection with taxes paid on liquor failed today, when the United States Circuit Court affirmed a decision of the District Court holding that Justice Wardell had a right to collect $115,692. The court said, however, that had the drug company made an immediate appeal to the commissioner of internal revenue at Washington they might have obtained relief. The justice decided that the remedy lay with the commissioner and that if he had refused relief it would have been proper to appeal to the court. The company claims that their tax should have been $39,656 and that the balance paid constituted fines and penalties which Wardell had no right to collect.

Fraud in Land Deal Charged in Suit

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—Orlando A. Robertson, president of the U. S. Farm Land company and allied corporations, and multimillionaire of Sacramento, was made defendant today in an action in the United States District Court to recover $48,500 by Lewis W. Van Nostrand of Fairfield, Iowa, who claims to have bought a large acreage under false pretenses. According to Van Nostrand's complaint, he purchased from the Daniel Hayes company of Iowa with headquarters in Chicago, eleven lots for which he paid $48,500 and expended large additional sums in a cultivation scheme of Iowa, that the land was alkali and not fit for agricultural purposes. He charges that pictures showing a small portion of the Chowchilla ranch in Madera and Merced counties was a picture in the prospectus which he saw before making his purchase.

GAINS MADE IN SELECT STOCKS IN WALL STREET

Last Week's Lively Dealings Resumed At Outset of Today's Session.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Last week's lively dealings in selected stocks at higher prices were resumed at the outset of today's session. Oils, motors and allied specialties were most conspicuous, with Coudon, Pierce, Arrow and Central Leather leading at gains of 1 to 2 points. Steel and equipment stocks were irregular, but copper and engineering showed further moderate accumulation.

Rails displayed little animation during the first hour of trading, but later in the day they were reflected in rates for British exchange, demand rising to 100, the high quotation so far this year.

Shorts made another drive against oil during the first hour of trading, but later in the day they were reflected in rates for British exchange, demand rising to 100, the high quotation so far this year.

Recent rumors affecting the Mexican Petroleum dropped 1/2 point, but later in the day they were reflected in rates for British exchange, demand rising to 100, the high quotation so far this year.

Motorists fell 1/2 to 3/4 points and Crutcher's fell 1/2 point, but later in the day they were reflected in rates for British exchange, demand rising to 100, the high quotation so far this year.

Oil and most other leaders headed sharply higher, but later in the day they were reflected in rates for British exchange, demand rising to 100, the high quotation so far this year.

When independent steel as well as copper and rails featured a broader buying movement, call money opened at 1 per cent, the higher rate reflecting last week's deficit in call money.

Mexican Petroleum forfeited part of its recovery later and rails lapsed into dullness, but steel continued to advance, with gains of 1/2 to 1 point. The closing was strong. Popular issues in the market were the recovery of extreme gains of 1 to 4 points. Sales approximated 1,500,000 shares, including about 500,000 in the first hour of trading.

The rails, tobacco and food specialties at midday, these issues showing gains of 1 to 2 points. The recovery in oil was continued, Mexican Petroleum rallying 3/4 points from the low of the morning. Shipings and equipment also advanced.

NEW YORK, May 2.—The Sun's financial review this afternoon said: "There was a steadfast element of strength in the stock market at the beginning of the new week, although surface manifestations were not consistently constructive. The opening prices which were irregular with an evident tendency toward higher values, which were held for the moment by a vigorous bear raid on Mexican Petroleum shares."

"Trading was particularly animated through the afternoon and transaction for the day were more than a million shares. The highest price levels were somewhat shaded in the last hour but the list as a whole may be said to have held well."

Chicago grain were strong. There was a sharp uptick in cotton prices in the afternoon session.

Local Market Notes

Artichokes again have recovered from the weakened market from which they suffered last week. Cases were quoted 50 better than the low price last week, and the recovery is strengthening demand. Call for artichokes last week dropped without apparent reason.

White apple market continues steady and the removal from warehouses goes ahead, there is a feeling reported among market men that prices are about to weaken, but it is said that withdrawals have not been as heavy as had been expected and the supply of apples still is large. Changes in the market will not be of a sweeping nature if they come, however.

A fair supply of Imperial Valley cucumbers was here today, with prices ranging up to $1.00 on the box. The demand was not heavy. Tomato buyers have shown a disposition to accept cheaper offerings and while quotations were not as high as last week, the quality of deliveries is improving.

Offerings of strawberries today, on a 250 chest delivery, declined to 75 cents a drawer after the Saturday gains which brought a minimum of 85 cents and a high of $1.15. Further recessions are anticipated this week.

Asparagus deliveries today were about 800 boxes, with prices averaged a cent off. There were plenty of better grades.

EASTBAY HELP
PLEGGED RESCUE
HOME CAMPAIGN

Hundred Prominent People
At Luncheon With 'Army'
Outline Drive Plans.

Meeting at luncheon in the blue room of the Hotel Oakland at noon today, 100 prominent business, professional, civic and social leaders of the Eastbay pledged support to the $30,000 drive for the Salvation Army.

This money is needed to meet the deficit in the fund for the rescue of the Eastbay, which is the result of the Thirty-eight street and Garden avenue.

For thirty years the Salvation Army has maintained a rescue home in Oakland. Its former location was at Beulah Heights. Here thousands of betrayed girl-mothers have passed through the shadows of death, that an innocent babe might be given the proper care and attention. Here kindly Salvation Army nurses and motherly matrons have administered to the needs of mothers and their babies. Here the threats of broken lives have been placed together and smiles have lifted burdened hearts.

No girl or woman or man ever appeared in vain to the volunteer workers of the Salvation Army. The Salvation Army recognizes neither creed nor race, just human hearts. Their work since the days of General Booth, founder of the organization, has been to mend broken men and women and girls and to set them on the straight path to happiness and usefulness.

These were some of the things told the 100 men and women at the luncheon today by Salvation Army chiefs and by plain, public-spirited citizens long interested in the good work of the "army" that "stands on the battlefield of life."

Commander Adian Gifford of the Salvation Army, just back from an expedition to Honolulu, and Brigadier Andrew Crawford of state headquarters were among the "army" speakers.

John L. McNab, of San Francisco, chairman of the state advisory board; Superior Judge T. W. Harris of Oakland, chairman of the county advisory board, and C. A. Farnsworth, Alameda county campaign manager, were other speakers.

Then there was William E. Harvent, chairman of the "stunts" committee, who has outlined a number of unique features during the campaign. Harvent has chosen on his committee the following live wires: Rex Midgely, American theater; Ben Gavica, Orpheum, motion picture expert; A. E. McElroy, Associated Oil Company; Gene Grandjean, Elks' club; Commissioner William J. Dacus, William La Rue, amateur singer and comedian; Leo Derrillan, father of mercy to the Moose club; Mrs. J. E. Cone and Miss Catherine Sullivan.

1893 saw the birth of the moving picture machine.

Spell of Hawaiian Moon
Gives Courage to Woosers

Here is holder of the long distance record for marriage proposals. As most popular girl on ship MISS MAE BURT reports thirty-two.

Rochester Girl Returns Dangling Hearts of No Less than Thirty-two Lovers

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—Holding the Hawaiian long distance record for marriage proposals in the shortest space of time, Miss Mae E. Burt, a Rochester girl, who, with Mrs. G. C. Sacker, also of Rochester, has been wintering at Honolulu, arrived here on the China Mail steamer Nanking.

Papers and figures regarding the New York girl's impetuous woosers were adduced by Miss Burt's fellow passengers, who pronounced her the most popular of the girls aboard the China Mail ship. So many pretty girls were aboard the Nanking that the vessel was termed the "Beauty Ship of the Pacific" by the score of newspaper men boarding the liner here at quarantine.

Pressed for verification of the report that she had hung up a chain-ship pendant as a heart-breaker, Miss Burt said:

"I think there were thirty-two proposals in all, but the right one was not among them. You might add that the ardent thirty-two ranged through the scale of rank and color. However, there was nothing remarkable in my experience, for I know of several girls who I think had as many, but hardly in so short a space of time. I guess the tropical moonlight was to blame."

Miss Burt admitted that the Nanking also came back through nights of moonlight, but denied having lost her heart. She will visit in Hollywood, where Mrs. Seager makes her home when away from Rochester, and then will return to Rochester.

'Asiatics' Awakening
Is Luncheon Subject

"The Awakening of the Asiatic: Will Japan Grab Russia?" This will be the subject of Sid. Coryn, journalist and editor of the San Francisco Argonaut, on Wednesday, at the regular weekly luncheon of the Progressive Business club in the Hotel Oakland, when he will be the principal speaker. The attendance prize for the luncheon will be presented this week by Dr. J. H. Morris, according to announcement of Stuart Morrow, secretary of the club.

WOMAN ENDS LIFE
SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—Mrs. Treacy Obermohle, 56, of 168 Clipperton street, turned on the gas in her home and was found dead early today by her husband, Bernard Obermohle, retired capitalist. Illness was given as the cause of her act.

Liquor Officials

THE court of United States Commissioner Albert M. Hardie was filled to overflowing today with nineteen alleged violators of the Eighteenth Amendment and the only excitement was provided by George French, alias George Becker and Harry Dall, alias Harry Dale, who asked for a continuance and then admitted to the commissioner that they had given fictitious names at the time they were arrested.

Grant Gorman, supposed partner in the hotels, stocks and irrigation lands office in the Ben-haw building, who was arrested with Becker and Dale late last Thursday afternoon, following a struggle with Patrolman Charles Appleton and Joseph Ols of the morals squad, was granted a continuance until tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Becker was a "clerk" in the brokerage office. They are at liberty on $1000 bail pending a hearing before Commissioner Hardie, recently appointed United States commissioner for Alameda, Contra Costa and Santa Clara counties.

SEARCH ON FOR FOUR BANDITS IN
$3000 ROBBERY

Lockers of Hammam Baths
Robbed At Early Hour in Morning.

Police of the entire bay region are searching today for four bandits who early yesterday entered the Merritt Hammam Baths, Ninth and Franklin, locked the doors behind them and guard against interruption. With pistols held up a guest and an attendant, rifled the lockers and escaped with about $3000. Fifty guests were sleeping in the baths at the time.

The bandits entered the bath lounge, where they found Lee Baker, night attendant, and Antonio Terchous, Arlington Hotel, Ninth and Washington streets, a guest. All of the bandits were armed and they forced the two men to stand against the wall while they thoroughly searched the building.

THIRTEEN TO KILL IF OUTCRY MADE
They secured about $3000 in cash which had been checked with Baker by the sleeping guests. After the gunmen had made a thorough search of the building they left through the front door after threatening to kill either of the men if they made any attempt to call for help.

Baker telephoned police headquarters and Inspectors Richard McSorley and Tim Flynn were assigned to the case.

Baker told the detectives that earlier a stranger had entered the place and reserved a room after making inquiries regarding the number of visitors. He left promising to return shortly. Baker said that he recognized the men as the leader of the bandit gang.

Guests in the place did not learn of the robbery until after the gunman had made good their escape.

May Day Rainfall
.18 Inches; Fair
Today's Promise

"FAIR with gentle westerly winds" was the prediction for today following a blustery May Day yesterday in which .18 of an inch of rainfall was recorded at the Chabot Observatory in Leona Heights.

Though cloudy at dawn yesterday, many motorists surmised that "it will clear up" and set forth on parties with their ladies bedecked in gay summer hats and sports clothes. When at noon, however, showers began to fall there was a hasty putting up of side-curtains and a careful covering of the summer hats with the Sunday papers.

The storm cleared up again about 4 o'clock in the afternoon in time for the sunset to present a remarkable spectacle in the western sky. The rainfall this season is now behind the normal by some half-inch, the total for the season being 22.71.
